

Chronic Lymphocytic Leukemia (CLL)

CLL begins in the bone marrow and does not completely interfere with the development of mature red cells, white cells and platelets. It is generally less severe than acute leukemia.

Typical Age at Diagnosis

Prevalence / Incidence / Deaths in the US

162,374 people are living with CLL.

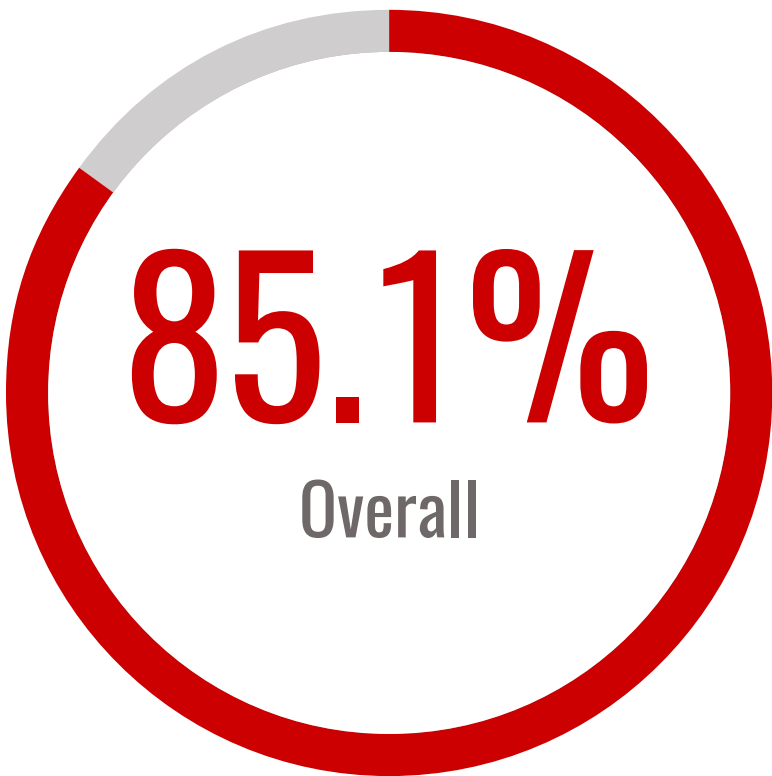

20,110 new cases are diagnosed each year.

4,660 people die each year.

5 Year Survival Rate

Treatment Options

	Watch and wait		White blood cell growth factors
	Single or combo drug therapy		Radiation therapy
	Targeted therapies		Splenectomy
	Monoclonal antibody therapies		Ongoing clinical trials